

Friday, 25. November 2011

Weather Report

Dear Customer,

Please find below our weather report / forecast for the upcoming days.

Currently Team Lines is coping with the effects of strong winds and currents within our respective trading areas but for now is still relative calm. If the weather doesn't change within 48 hours, the vessel Katharina B might face delays.

According to the following weather reports, we also expect delays in Bremerhaven and Port of Aarhus.

Furthermore it is likely that the traffic in the Kiel Canal to be impeded as well.

Therefore, as in the past, Team Lines will continue to inform you on a weekly basis about the weather development which may have an impact on our services and shipping routes.

With best regards