

Customer Information – Strike Actions at the Port of Rotterdam

Please be informed that negotiations between ECT terminal in Rotterdam and the FNV Bondgenoten Union (terminal workers union) on a new labour agreement are currently stuck. The FNV union fights for improved pension conditions, better salaries and more rights of determination regarding matters such as safety and training. Therefore, FNV already has taken first actions over the weekend in a so called “surprise attack”. Team Lines vessels were not hit severely by those weekend work stoppages.

However, terminal workers stopped operations yesterday afternoon at ECT Delta, ECT City and Euromax terminals for a couple of hours again.

Following Team Lines vessels are or are expected to be concerned:

- M/V El Toro: was hit by the actions yesterday, was operated with some delay
- M/V Emotion: has left Hamburg and arrived at RTM last night

So far we have no information if and when work stoppages will be continued, but in case further actions will follow we have to take into account that our vessels might be delayed.

However, we will keep you posted about the situation in due time and will inform you about potential impacts on our schedules.

In case of further questions please do not hesitate to contact your local Team Lines office.
